County Council hears report on jail progress

Talks also focus on water issue

BY BOB DEMAREE

Jefferson County Council heard a report on progress toward construction of a new county jail and discussed which utility will provide water service to that facility at Monday evening's County Council meeting.

County Council President Pam Crozier said she had expected bonds for the new jail to be purchased in January, and wondered why there has been a delay.

County Commissioner David Bramer said the delay "was probably my fault. When I spent a week in the hospital, it took a little bit for me to recover."

Missing teen located after search in Trimble

BY MARK CAMPBELL

A Monday night search for a missing 16-year-old Trimble County boy in a wooded area involving rough terrain and frigid weather conditions ended with a positive outcome when searchers located the boy about a mile from his home in cold but good condition.

According to Trimble County Emergency Management Services Director Andrew Stark, the boy was reported missing at about 4:30 p.m. Monday and thought to have enter the woods behind his home on Rhea Drive just off US 421 between Bedford and Milton. The boy was found at 9:20 p.m. near the end of Reynolds Way, about a mile northwest of where he started.

What caused the boy to enter the woods and remain so long is not known but rescuers were glad to have the positive outcome on a night when weather conditions — the temperature was in the 20s with freezing rain and snow — could have resulted in a much worse outcome.

"I'm guessing he got lost," said Stark, noting the rough terrain combined with total darkness

190-year-old home total loss in fire

Family still searching for pets

BY BOB DEMAREE

A 190-year old home located in the 5100 block of West State Road 250 in Lancaster Township was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon.

"It was a total loss," said Dupont Fire Chief George Canfield, who said no one was home when the fire began and the blaze was reported at 4:04 p.m. by a "passerby who saw smoke coming out of the house."

The house, owned by Jim Hammond, had been in the Hammond family for decades. The house was purchased in 1941 by his grandparents, Pete and Mary Hammond from John Dale and Ida Marie Horton. In 1978, Jim's parents, Curtis and Shirley Hammond took over ownership, and it became Jim's house after Shirley died in 2016.

Firefighters from Dupont and Madison Township fire departments responded but the fire proved difficult to get a handle on.

"It's one the toughest in a few years that we have had to fight," said Madison Township Fire Department Chief Robert Black.

Canfield said firefighters were at the scene until 8 p.m. Monday working to put the blaze out and were then called back out at 2:30 a.m. for hot spots when it rekindled, and later at 7:15 a.m. when the fire tried to rekindle again.

Black attributed the difficulty in extinguishing the blaze to the nature of the house. It's and older home, built in 1830, that has been updated and remodeled over the years and the layers of new drywall and old plywood, and a new roof over old shingles made getting to the fire problematic and the combination of various issues made the fire challenging to control.

Canfield said the cause of the fire is still under investigation but Black confirmed that the fire "started at the first floor level" then spread from there. Firefighters had attempted to enter in the front of the house, Black said, but "then the ceiling fell, then we went to the backside and it did

Nashville is coming to Indiana's Music City

CHARLIE ROHLFING
CHARLIE'S BEAT

More and more these days, Madison is hosting a fair share of Nashville talent at our various venues and establishments. Part of the credit goes to Jimmy Davis, who was spending a lot of time pre-pandemic down in Music City, and he fostered a kind of pipeline of musicians coming to town.

One such notable is songwriter Joel Shewmake, who came up to play in Jane Vonderheide's "House of Jane Songwriter Concert" series. Joel liked our vibe so much he came back some months later with his girlfriend and played a gig at Off-Broadway Taproom.

The Red Bicycle Hall over the years has hosted numerous Nashville denizens as they criss cross the Midwest on tour. And now the dearth of gigs brought on by the COVID pandemic has sent even more quality Nashville talent on the road, seeking out music-friendly venues where they can ply their trade.

One such musician is Brett Stafford Smith, originally out of Dothan, Georgia, but a Nashville resident for some six years now. He played Mad Paddle Brewstillery last weekend and I caught up with him between sound check and the show.

"I got out on the road about a year and a half ago," explains Brett. "I'd been doing the local Nashville thing pretty solid for five years, playing the bars on the Broadway strip and the whole bit, but I was ready for a change. I have a booking agent who somehow finds gigs in all these great places, like breweries and wineries, so when she strings a few together I grab my guitar and go.

"I have to say rolling into Madison from the bridge is quite an experience. It felt like I traveled back in time. I'm like, where's the Appleby's? And what the heck is an Indiana Gun Tattoo Parlor? This town is awesome.

"My road to music is a little unconventional, I guess. I graduated with a degree in economics from Auburn. I had always played in bands as a kid and in college, usually as a drummer, but I didn't see it as a career.

"I had a series of corporate jobs I did not enjoy, and then when I was about 26 I said what the heck, I'll move to Nashville and see what happens! It's been a memorable few years, I can tell you that.

"I've done so much different stuff. I had a rockabilly duo with a woman on drums and me on guitar, kind of a White Stripes thing. I collaborated with some great people and I've written hundreds of songs. I wrote six or seven new songs just last week!"

At this point I asked Brett about his future plans. He's been in Nashville for more than six years and he's in his 30s now. I asked him, what do you want to happen with your music career?

"I don't know man," he replied, looking over my shoulder and giving a wistful smile. "I have a buddy who just recently said to me he doesn't know why he's doing it. And he wonders whether all these songs he's writing will ever see the light of day. But I've been thinking about it, and I think I know why I do it.

"I know I may not 'make it' in the traditional sense, you know, get to that super famous star level. But I feel like I have to do it. Maybe it's just for the experience, just for the doing. Maybe the doing is an end in itself. And when it's all said and done, I want to say I tried it, I gave it my shot.

"But I'm realistic, it's not

Pursuit leads to multiple charges in Trimble

Steven Kyle Frazier

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

A Trimble County man who was wanted on a drug-related parole violation, attempted to flea police Tuesday afternoon and led Kentucky State Police and Trimble County Sheriff's Deputies on a 10-mile chase before crashing his vehicle in a yard off of US 42.

Steven Kyle Frazier, 35, has now been charged with the parole violation and speeding 26 mph over the posted speed limit, reckless driving, fleeing/evading police by motor vehicle, wanton endangerment-first degree, criminal mischief-first degree and resisting arrest. He was lodged in the Oldham County Detention Center on a $5,000 cash bond.

According to KSP Trooper Chad Johnson, public affairs officer at KSP Post 5 in Campbellsburg, Kentucky, the incident began when a trooper recognized Frazier driving on US 42 at about 10:05 a.m. Tuesday and attempted to execute a traffic stop because he knew Frazier was wanted on the parole violation. Frazier instead speeded up and attempted to lose the officer by turning onto Hardy Creek Road and driving that narrow county road until another location on US 42.

After returning to US 42, Frazier's vehicle eventually experienced a tire blow out with the vehicle coming to rest in the yard of a residence on US 42.

Frazier was taken into custody at that point and transported to jail. There were no injuries.

"It was hard to stop," Black said.

Jim Hammond and his family lost not only their home, but they also have three dogs missing and unaccounted for. They posted pictures on their Facebook page asking neighbors to be on the lookout for the animals.

"They have been out looking for them," Canfield said.

Black said he feels bad for the family, noting he has known Jim Hammond since high school.

"We did the best we could," Black said, adding that some firefighters happened to be at the Madison Township Fire Station when the call came in and responded quickly. "They were out in a minute and a half."

Hanover Fire Department was also on the scene with its food truck, along with the King's Daughters' Hospital emergency medical service.

PROGRESS

Bramer reported that "construction documents are on hand. We are reviewing them. We will select a construction manager this week. He will do the final review and we should have them out to bid in early March."

Once bids are received the county should have the cost, and Bramer said the Commissioners will seek the necessary bonds after that.

"We're going to have a design for a jail that's going to be what the sheriff and his department wants," Bramer said. "We've kept the cost down and saved money along the way. I think it's moving forward well."

Bramer said the waterline for the new jail is more complicated. "There were some personalities that got involved and it looks like we will be going through Dupont but will be tying into a Madison line," he said, adding that the usage rates by going through Dupont will "probably be more per gallon" than it would in going through Madison.

"If personalities are involved, can we negate personalities, and go back and get it from Madison because we're trying to be good stewards of taxpayer dollars and we should lay personalities to the side and go directly to wherever the cheapest source is, and the best services, and get the product for cheaper, whatever that product is," Crozier said.

"Unfortunately, that being the case, it had nothing to do with our personalities, but it was other personalities that got involved," Bramer said. "People dug their heals in, and said it's our district, and you're going to get your water from us. I had no part in those conversations but we are feeling the impact of those conversations."

Bramer went on to note "the jail is located in Dupont's water district. It's not like we can re-draw water districts. It's not that we want to pay more for their water. It is in their district. They are going to buy the water from Madison then sell it to us."

Bramer said the Madison waterline Dupont will connect to and bring water to the new county jail is located just across the road from the jail site but legal issues make Dupont the provider.

"We can talk offline to why things happened the way they did," Bramer said, adding that he will send the letter the Commissioners "received from the lawyer about this. You act like this was our choice. It wasn't our choice. You act like we didn't want to pay less for water. It's not the case at all."

In other business, the Council:

• Discussed with Sheriff David Thomas the daily rates that are being paid for housing inmates in other counties. "I have been able to negotiate with Crawford and Switzerland on the per day cost for inmates" because Jefferson County has a history of working with them, Thomas said. However, he has not been able to negotiate rates for housing inmates in Clark and Scott counties. Thomas noted that as more warrants are issued Jefferson County's numbers will go up. "They are actively going out and looking for these people. We get them in and out of here as quick as we can. We've picked up some people in the last three weeks on some really heavy charges, and they just aren't going to go anywhere," he said.

"I think the staff is doing a good job. We're trying to keep an eye on it, and are trying to move them to the cheapest place that we can as cheaply as we can. We're trying to keep that number down."

• Susie Lawrence, 911 executive director, asked the Council for $16,943 for supplemental dispatcher pay. "The dispatchers receive no overtime pay, no shift differential, no clothing allowance, and it's just a thanks to the staff and an appreciation for all the hard work and stress that they had gone through in 2020." She also asked that a line item be added now and for future budgets named longevity, and the "amounts and percentages would be the same that it is for the Sheriff's office." The total requested longevity pay was $8,200.

Lawrence said all of the money would come out of the state 911 funds, and none from the county, Madison city or Hanover town contributions. Lawrence said the state has approved the money coming out of its 911 fund, but it also needs approval from the County Council.

"I don't really have an issue with the longevity," said Council Vice President Chris Shelton, "but I really wish this would take place during budget time. We have had a series of these requests coming in January, February and March after budget, and they really need to be part of the budget planning process."

Council member Ray Black Jr. agreed, "I think it needs to come up as part of the budget hearings, not two months into the new year. I understand where they're coming from, but I think it needs to be brought up during budget time."

The Council members were in consensus, and did not act on the request.

• Tammy Monroe, administrator at the Jefferson County Health Department, talked to the Council about $40,320 the state has provided for anything related to COVID-19 that needed Council approval to appropriate. "I did have to purchase some new laptops so I will be spending part of that for some new laptops. I don't really have plans as yet for the rest of the amount of money. It will just depend as they roll out the vaccine, and it becomes more available, if I need some extra help then I might utilize some of it to hire some temporary help."

Monroe asked if the Council wanted to appropriate all of that money to the health department now, or prefer that she request appropriations each time she spends some of the funds.

"Since we already know what you are doing with that, I think we can go ahead and vote on that, then you can just allocate those funds as needed, when needed," Crozier said, and the appropriation was approved unanimously.

Council member Judy Smith had high praise for the county health department in how it is handling COVID-19 vaccinations.

"How you are running that is wonderful," said Smith, who said she received her vaccination there. "It's quick. It's easy, very easy. Everyone is very helpful. It was very, very smooth. I just think you should be praised for what's going on and how well it's working."

Council member Heather Foy also expressed her appreciation of the support the health department has provided to King's Daughters' Hospital as a secondary site. "Daily from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. they are giving three shots every 10 minutes" at KDH, said Foy. "It's a challenge when so many folks are wanting the vaccine," but she praised Monroe for going there to answer questions and for being helpful. "You have been great resource for them and it's been a team effort."

• Approved $1,500,000 transfer from the Cumulative Courthouse fund to the general fund in an effort to keep the county's general fund in the black throughout the year. During the year the funds in the general fund fluctuate as collections come into the county from taxes. The money is moved back at the end of the year to the Cumulative Courthouse fund, which is used for repair costs to the Courthouse.

"We started this two years ago to keep our general fund in the black," said council member Ray Denning. "For years, it has gone red, and the state doesn't like that very much, and after we started doing that, we've got more cooperation from the state on our yearly budget."

County Auditor Sherry Eblen noted that when they started that process $2,300,000 was transferred so to only need to transfer $1,500,000 now shows progress haw been achieved in that they are now transferring less. "Hopefully in another four years we won't have to do this," Shelton said.

• Council member Gary Copeland suggested having a steel toe shoe allowance available to all 220 county employees. "Steel toe shoes are safety, and we have got to have a safety emphasis with the county employees. I think they deserve it. How many will want it, I don't know."

He favors providing the option to all county employees and added Copeland it's just an idea and that he will follow-up with more research.

"I think it's worth pursuing for insurance purposes," said Crozier.

Copeland agreed, noting "when you're dealing with heavy equipment or dealing with chemicals, and stuff like that, your feet are your foundation, and I would like the county employees as safe as they possibly can, and I think our taxpayer money would be in line to do if we can work this out."

• Crozier reported on an issue with a software update that has substantially slowed operations in the County Treasurer's office, and that the County Treasurer "was not aware that they were going to have this software update that was going to cause her systems be compatible with it, so she is going to need, if she is going to run efficiently, new computers for her office."

Crozier added that the purchase is not currently budgeted but that the Treasurer will get some invoices together and research how many computers are needed and the prices before bringing the request to the County Council at a future meeting.

• Highway department superintendent Bobby Phillips requested a transfer of $256,023.25 from the construction fund into the local grant matching fund. The Council approved the transfer.

• Approved transferring an $8,000 donation to the local Animal Shelter to provide spay and neuter vouchers and $2,000 for rabies shot vouchers.

Prosecutor: Internet safety more important than ever

DAVID SUTTER
JEFFERSON COUNTY PROSECUTOR

An internationally celebrated day, Safer Internet Day, was established 18 years ago to bring attention to making the internet a safer place. This year's theme on Feb. 9 in the United States is, "The Internet starts with I." Connect Safely, the facilitator of this program, is asking everyone to think about "What I can do to make the internet better?"

At the Jefferson County Prosecutor's Office, we are continually asking that question, particularly when it comes to protecting our children and ourselves from internet predators. According to Crimes Against Children Research Center, one in 25 youth in one year received an online sexual solicitation where the solicitor tried to make offline contact. With children having more access to the internet because of e-learning and staying connected to their friends due to the pandemic, adults must be more vigilant than ever to help protect them from these predators. Talk to your child about the risks involved with being online. Educate them about how to stay safe on the internet.

According to www.internetsafety101.com here are a few signs to look for in your child:

- Becoming secretive about online activities.
- Becoming obsessive about being online.
- Getting angry when he or she cannot get online.
- Receiving phone calls from people you do not know or makes calls to numbers that you do not recognize.
- Receiving gifts, mail, or packages from someone you do not know.
- Withdrawing from family or friends.
- Changing screens or turning off the computer when an adult enters a room.
- Begins downloading pornography online.

Being proactive in educating our children is a great way to help protect them. Below are a few tips to share with your child from the Crimes Against Children Research Center to help protect them from online predators:

- Be smart about what you post on the Internet and what you say to others. The web is a lot more public and permanent than it seems.
- Provocative and sexual names and pictures can draw attention from people you do not want in your life.
- Adults who talk to you about sex online are committing a crime. So are adults who meet underage teens for sex. Some teens think it might be fun, harmless, or romantic, but it means serious trouble for everyone. It is best to report it.
- Do not let friends influence your better judgment. If you are surfing with other kids, do not let them pressure you to do things you ordinarily would not.

Finally, parents, check your child's privacy setting on their social media accounts and consider installing parental control apps on your child's device. "Seventy-one% of teens have admitted to hiding what they do online from their parents, including clearing browser history, minimizing a browser when in view, deleting inappropriate videos, lying about behavior, or using a phone instead of a computer," according to Jamie Le in "The Digital Divide: How the Online Behavior of Teens is Getting Past Parents." Educating your child and yourself about internet safety could save you and your child from anguish later. If you would like more tips to follow, please visit www.in.gov/attorneygeneral/2630.htm.

Not only are we concerned about the safety of our youth on the internet, but also our elderly population. Both young and old alike are frequent targets of internet predators. Predators often play on the emotions of the elderly. Below are a few tips from the FBI to help keep our elderly population and your loved ones safe while on the internet:

- Make sure all computer anti-virus and security software and malware protection are up to date. Use reputable anti-virus software and firewalls.
- Disconnect from the internet and shut down your device if you see a pop-up message or locked screen. Pop-ups are regularly used by perpetrators to spread malicious software. Enable pop-up blockers to avoid accidentally clicking on a pop-up.
- Be careful what you download. Never open an email attachment from someone you don't know and be wary of email attachments forwarded to you.
- Take precautions to protect your identity if a criminal gains access to your device or account.
- Immediately contact your financial institutions to place protections on your accounts and monitor accounts and personal information for suspicious activity.

As we pause on Safer Internet Day to discuss potential online dangers, I hope the people of our community will have an increased awareness of how to protect loved ones from internet predators. If you suspect that someone is a victim, please take the following steps in response:

Call local law enforcement, including my office at (812) 265-8932. As your Prosecutor, I will continue to educate the public, and investigate and prosecute internet predators if cases should arise in our community. As always, we will keep the needs of crime victims at the forefront to help them receive the essential services necessary for recovery.

Project to place Narcan kits in every county

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana is partnering with the nonprofit Overdose Lifeline Inc. to expand access to the opioid overdose antidote naloxone through exterior dispensers available at all hours.

Overdose Lifeline intends to purchase and place 215 NaloxBox units across the state, including at least one in every Indiana county. A NaloxBox is a hard acrylic box mounted to an exterior wall that contains six to eight doses of naloxone, instructions for use, and treatment referral cards.

The $58,000 cost of the NaloxBox units and shipping will be paid for through a federal grant to the state.

Gov. Eric Holcomb announced the initiative Friday. He said the state is "committed to raising awareness about the need for bystanders to carry" naloxone.

Any business or community entity is eligible to request a NaloxBox unit to install in an accessible and highly visible area. They'll be responsible for monitoring the NaloxBox every day and requesting refills.

Naloxone, also known as Narcan, is a medication to reverse overdoses by opioids.

this or nothing. I want to be able to pivot into something eventually. I've actually been thinking about going to Florida to play music. Lots of gigs, good money, and none of the Nashville pressure to succeed and hit it big. Or I may go back to Alabama, be closer to family. But tonight I'm playing in Madison, and I'm very excited to be here!"

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

We have live music in town on Thursday and Friday, but Saturday is shaping up with a couple of special shows you may want to check out. Saturday at Mad Paddle Brewstillery we have Amy Noel fronting a powerful new force on our local music scene called The Madison Rhythm Section. The "Section" is basically a group of our most talented and experienced players — you know the guys who seem to show up in just about every local band — who have sort of formalized their role as the preeminent group to have if you want it tight, right and professional. Also on Saturday at Thomas Family Winery for the very first time you can see local legend Rusty Bladen playing a full show with his wife Andra, a lead vocalist in her own right with the band Two Buck Chuck. Should be a fun one!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

Audrey Taylor

Jean Audrey Taylor, 82, of Carrollton, Kentucky, died Feb. 7, 2021, due to complications from COVID-19.

She was born April 27, 1938, to Harrison and Sarah May Willett, in Henry County, Kentucky. As a child she was raised by Lemuel and Lillie May Clark. She married Raymond Russell "Dutch" Taylor in 1952 and they had a son. She began her work career at the tube factory while helping on the farm and decided on a career in hairdressing having completed only the eighth grade at English School. She studied and received her GED, then enrolled in the cosmetology school in Madison, Indiana, and made straight As. She went on to co-own The Golden Comb Beauty Shop in Carrollton. After retiring many of her clients remained loyal and she continued to cut hair for some at her home. She was a charter member of the Family Worship Center in Carrollton and was called to caregiving. During retirement she began working at Green Valley Nursing Home in Carrollton, where she cared for family, friends and others. She became a grandmother in 1973, a role she enjoyed and made enjoyable for her grandkids.

Survivors include her son, Darrell Allen Taylor of The Villages, Florida; two sisters, Delores Willett and Judy Willett; three grandchildren, Jennifer Nichole Taylor of Sanders, Kentucky, Felisity Dara Taylor of Crawfordville, Florida and Tholley Clark Taylor of Tallahassee, Florida; and six great grandchildren and a great-great grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her parents; the couple who helped raise her; her husband of 59 years in 2011; and her brothers, Kenny and Harlan Willett.

A private memorial service will be held at a later date. Cremation and funeral arrangements entrusted to Tandy-Eckler-Riley Funeral Home in Carrollton.

Memorial contributions may be given to the Family Worship Center COVID-19 Relief Aid, 2520 Highway 227, Carrollton, KY 41008 or the funeral home.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

Mr. David Lamar "Dave" Childress

Dave was born in Los Angeles, California in 1944 to Lamar and Helen Schultz Childress. Dave graduated from Anaheim High School in 1962 and enjoyed playing on the high school football team, surfing in the nearby ocean, and hiking in the mountains. He served in the United States Army with tours of duty in Viet Nam, Turkey, and Taiwan from 1963-1967. When he was 26 years old, he made a radical life-changing decision to accept Jesus Christ as his Savior and Lord-and then to become Christ's disciple. This brought him great joy and a major transformation to his lifestyle. He began preparing for serving the Lord by attending and graduating from Biola College, and then earned his masters degree from Talbot Seminary, just outside Los Angeles. During a summer while in college, he traveled to minister to Native Americans in British Columbia, Canada. There he met another summer volunteer worker, Ann Phillips, from Indiana. They married the following year and returned additional summers to serve in BC. Later they became the parents of three children: Lydia, Susanna, and Micah. Following seminary, Dave and his young family served with O.C. Ministries in the Philippines, where he was involved in evangelism, as well as discipling and training local pastors. Some years later, he was critically injured in an accident there; because of the seriousness of the resulting injuries, he and his family had to return to residency in the U.S. Dave and his family then settled in Southern IN, where he pastored local churches. He served on the Southwestern School Board and coached his children's softball, baseball, and basketball teams. In the 1990s he created and produced the local radio programs "Silverwing" and "Solid Rock", sharing his love of Christ through music and Scripture. In the years prior to his retirement, he served in the Madison Schools as an English as a Second Language teacher k-12, where he enjoyed working with international students. One of his great joys was being a husband, parent and grandparent. Despite many difficult health issues, his later years were spent delighting in his ten beloved grandchildren, with devoted efforts to developing elaborate slip'n slides and legendary firework displays, in addition to joyful worship songs. He was active in Cornerstone Community Fellowship and thankful for any opportunities to minister to others for the Lord (even while he was a hospital patient). At home with his wife and three children by his side, he went to be with his beloved Savior on January 22, 2021 at the age of 76.

A LOVING FAMILY

David will be missed by his loving wife of 46 years, Ann Phillips Childress of Madison, Indiana; his loving children, Lydia Pfenniger and her husband, Fred of Fort Wayne, Indiana, Susanna Childress Banner and her husband, Joshua of Holland, Michigan, and Micah Childress and his wife, Anna of Grand Rapids, Michigan; his adoring grandchildren, Noah, Nathaniel, Noe'mi, Noll David, Casper, Shepherd, Merritt, Ezra, Josie and Brynlee; his brother in law, Don Phillips and his wife, Yolanda of Madison, Indiana; his sister in law, Joyce Peden and her husband, Joe of Bloomington, Indiana; several nieces, nephews and other relatives. He was preceded in death by his parents, Lamar and Helen Jewel Schultz Childress, his brother, Dennis Childress, his sister, Cathy Thomas, his grandson, Jericho Banner; his brother in law, Jim Phillips and his father in law and mother in law, Ralph R. and Dorothy George Phillips.

FUNERAL CEREMONY

Funeral services will be conducted on Saturday, February 13, 2021, at 1:00 p.m., by Dr. Scott Murphy at the Cornerstone Community Fellowship Church, 742 Jefferson Court in Madison, Indiana. Interment will follow in the Indiana Veterans Memorial Cemetery, 1415 North Gate Road in Madison, Indiana.

VISITATION

Friends may visit Saturday, February 13, 2021 from 12:00 p.m. until the time of service at the Cornerstone Community Fellowship Church, 742 Jefferson Court in Madison, Indiana.

Southwestern finally puts away Clarksville

Rebels move to 13-4 after 61-55 triumph

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Southwestern led virtually the entire way, but it wasn't until the waning moments that the Rebels were finally able to put away pesky Clarksville for a 61-55 win in boys basketball Tuesday in Hanover.

Other than a few brief stretches in the first half, Southwestern was out in front, including the final two and a half quarters of the game. But it wasn't until Foster Mefford's four free throws with less than 20 seconds left and two defensive stands that the Rebels were able to rest easy.

Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum knew that his team was going to get a battle from Clarksville, which entered the game with just seven wins but has been a thorn in the Rebels' side for the past several years.

"I was really proud of them for their mental toughness. Those were some big body blows that (Clarksville) threw at us," Nussbaum said of his Rebels. "Overall I was happy. We bounced back every time they punched us and got the 'W.' "

Southwestern's biggest lead of the night was just eight and every time the Rebels seemed poised to take control, Clarksville would answer to stay in the game.

The Rebels actually played from behind early in the game after the Generals opened hot and led 12-7 late in the first quarter. But a three-point play by Austin Kramer and a 3-pointer from Matthew Williams staked Southwestern to a 13-12 lead entering the second.

After trading baskets in a low-scoring second quarter, Southwestern went ahead for good on a Williams three-point play with 2:46 left in the half and scored 12 points over the final three minutes to lead 28-23 at the break.

But Southwestern (13-4) simply couldn't pull away. Clarksville hit 3-pointers at the buzzer to close both the second and third quarters and never allowed the Rebels to take control. The Generals closed the gap to two twice in the third and again on a Jaren Starks trey with 2:26 left in the game but Southwestern never broke.

"We're obviously going to have to work on our end of the quarter defense. They were able to get away from us twice," Nussbaum said.

Starks' 3-pointer capped a 10-5 run by the Generals that allowed them to get within striking distance. The Rebels then put the ball into a freeze, holding it for over a minute before Williams scored on a layup with 52 seconds left. After the Rebels forced a turnover, Mefford was fouled and calmly sank two free throws to push the margin to 59-53 with 20 seconds to go.

Clarksville (7-8) went for the quick score, getting a layup from Robert LaMar with 14 seconds to go to close the gap to four, but Mefford short-circuited those plans with two more free throws with 11 seconds left to ice the win.

Overall, Southwestern shot 44% (22-for-50) from the floor, including nearly 50% (13-for-27) in the second half, and was 13-for-15 from the foul line. Clarksville, meanwhile, hit nine 3-pointers but took 30 attempts to get there and were just 35% (19-of-54) from the floor overall.

Kramer scored 21 points and had nine rebounds to lead all scorers while Williams had 16 points and six rebounds. Mefford, held scoreless in the first half, scored 11 in the second and also dished out eight assists. Zach Cole added nine points for the Rebels.

Kelly jumps to Strong Racing for 2021 season

J. Michael Kelly

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

J. Michael Kelly, who won three of the five races on the H1 Unlimited circuit in 2019, is jumping to the newly-formed Strong Racing Team, the team announced in a release.

Kelly, who has racked up 11 wins over his 16-year career, spent the last three seasons with the Graham Trucking Team driving the U-12 Graham Trucking.

"I would like to thank Darrell and Vanessa for this amazing opportunity to drive one of the fastest boats in H1," Kelly said in the release. "I believe we will build a successful team and I look forward to our future of racing and helping the sport."

Longtime sponsors Darrell and Vanessa Strong took the leap into ownership late last year when they purchased the equipment from the Go Fast Turn Left Racing Team. Last month, the team increased its fleet with the purchase of Ellstrom Racing's E-3 hull, which last ran in 2017 as the Miss Elam Plus. Strong plans on running both boats, with Kelly aboard the former Elam Plus.

"We are thrilled to have JMK on the team. He is definitely one of the best drivers in the sport and we feel he makes us very competitive in 2021," Darrell Strong said. "Also, Mike, Angela and their boys have become like family to us so we are excited to have them join the Strong Racing Team."

The H1 series last ran in 2019 and all races a year ago were canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. As of now, the series is planning on running a full schedule this summer.

Dearth of bluebloods leave blue-collar teams in control

BY DAVE SKRETTA
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

Move over, Duke and North Carolina. Make way, UCLA and Kansas.

When the Bruins and Jayhawks slid out of the poll on Monday, with Kansas ending its record run at 231 consecutive weeks, it marked the first time those four schools, along with Kentucky, had not been ranked since Dec. 18, 1961.

Mike Krzyzewski was a teenager, Roy Williams in grade school and John Calipari barely out of diapers. Kansas coach Bill Self and UCLA counterpart Mick Cronin? Well, those two hadn't even been born yet.

"In basketball," Kansas guard Jalen Wilson said before the Jayhawks beat No. 23 Oklahoma State 78-66 on Monday night, "you sometimes have to focus on what's in front of you and not think about the past."

The present certainly doesn't belong to the powerhouses of the past. Of the 15 schools that have won multiple national championships, the only ones that graced the Top 25 this week were the Cowboys and fifth-ranked Villanova. The other 13 schools with their combined 54 national championships include Indiana, UConn and Michigan State.

Four received votes, but the remaining nine received none from the 63-member media panel making up the electorate.

There are plenty of reasons for so many big-name schools taking so many knocks on the chin.

Talent is spread more thinly than ever as elite recruits eschew the name on the front of the jersey for the opportunity to play right away, and transfers have made it even more difficult for top schools to stash talent away. Meanwhile, schools such as Gonzaga and Baylor that are not considered traditional bluebloods have developed into the modern-day version of them, led by popular coaches who have built a recruiting pipeline and are now winning enough to keep it flowing.

That's all without discussing the COVID-19 pandemic, which has caused several schools to regularly halt practices.

"Nobody wants the pauses, everyone wants to play. That was a byproduct of not having the chance to play," UConn coach Dan Hurley said after a loss to Seton Hall. "When you go pause, it hurts. It's not an excuse, it's just a reality."

The reality these days? Many of college basketball's brand names will be fighting just to make the NCAA Tournament.

"If we get a chance to get to the tournament," Bruins coach Mick Cronin said after a loss to rival Southern California, "we have to practice not hanging our head and not looking at the scoreboard and playing every play like it matters."

NO. 1 GETS A BREATHER

Gonzaga played BYU on Monday night but then has a break after its game Thursday night at Santa Clara was postponed due to the pandemic. That means the Bulldogs won't take the floor again until facing San Francisco on Saturday.

SPEAKING OF BREATHERS

Second-ranked Baylor experienced another pause within its program due to COVID-19 and won't take the floor again until Feb. 20, at the earliest. That deprived college hoops fans of what would have been two of the biggest games involving Top 25 teams this week — the Bears at No. 12 Oklahoma on Thursday and against No. 7 Texas Tech on Saturday.

Baylor has had to postpone or cancel several games this season, beginning in November, when it withdrew from the Empire Classic after coach Scott Drew tested positive for COVID-19. Its game against Gonzaga in December also was canceled.

TOP 25 TILTS

The Red Raiders still have a marquee game Tuesday night against No. 14 West Virginia. Other games involving two ranked teams this week include No. 25 Rutgers visiting slumping No. 15 Iowa on Wednesday night; fifth-ranked Villanova visiting No. 13 Creighton on Saturday; and third-ranked Michigan traveling to No. 21 Wisconsin on Sunday.

Big Ten men's tourney moved to Indianapolis

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — The Big Ten Conference announced Tuesday that its men's basketball tournament will move from Chicago to Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis, the site of this year's Final Four.

The tournament will be played March 10-14 just a few blocks away from Bankers Life Fieldhouse where the women's tourney will take place the same week. Big Ten officials see the advantages of Indianapolis as a tournament site, especially amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

The walkable hotels and restaurants, nearby venues and city's web of skywalks provide a better opportunity of keeping players, coaches and staff members healthy.

"Hosting both the men's and women's basketball tournaments in the same city allows for cohesive testing and medical protocols for both events, as well as centralized accommodations surrounding the competition venues," the Big Ten said. It said the league planned to return to Chicago in 2023.

It's going to be a busy time for Indianapolis.

The Horizon League already was scheduled to use Indiana Farmers Coliseum at the state fairgrounds to host the conclusion of it's men's and women's tournaments March 8-9, but then things really pick up.

Local leaders have spent two months scrambling to accommodate the NCAA, which announced last month that all 67 men's tourney games will be played in Indianapolis and its surrounding communities.

The coliseum, Lucas Oil Stadium, historic Hinkle Fieldhouse and Bankers Life Fieldhouse, home of the NBA's Indiana Pacers and WNBA's Indiana Fever, will host most of the games. Assembly Hall at Indiana University and Mackey Arena at Purdue, both about one hour from downtown Indy, are scheduled to host the other games.

The Big Ten tourney move had been expected.

"I think it makes sense," Indiana coach Archie Miller said recently. "It's practical for the teams that are moving on (to the NCAA Tournament), and I think Indianapolis being where everything is going to be held would make some sense if that were to happen."

Indianapolis was the site of last year's Big Ten tourney, too, and the pandemic interrupted it as Michigan and Rutgers were warming up for the first of four games.

Now the Big Ten is returning to a city that has hosted 11 of the previous 23 men's tournaments and 23 of the league's 26 women's tournaments, though this one comes with two new wrinkles. It's the first time the men will play in a non-NBA venue and it's the first time both tournaments will be held in the same city during the same week.

Trimble 3-1 in NCKC after victory over Williamstown

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Trimble County boys basketball improved to 3-1 in North Central Kentucky Conference play with a 76-60 win over Williamstown at home on Tuesday.

Ryan Long scored a career-high 19 points to lead four Raiders in double figures. Dylan Jennings hd 18 points, Tate Ogburn scored 16 and Ethan Horn had 12. James Thomas Wilcoxson chipped in seven.

Trimble, now 3-7 overall, hosts Eminence on Friday and Shawe on Saturday. The Raiders then host Gallatin County on Tuesday.

HILLTOPPERS FALL AT NEW WASHINGTON

Shawe Memorial shot a higher percentage but New Washington's 3-point shooting and volume of shots was the difference as the Mustangs picked up a 64-42 win in boys basketball Tuesday at home.

Shawe shot 44% from the floor compared to 40% by New Washington but the Hilltoppers took 26 fewer shots in the game. Throw in the Mustangs' 13 3-pointers and it added up to Shawe's 11th-straight loss.

Grayson May had 13 points and nine rebounds to lead Shawe while Philip Kahn scored 11 points and Jack Grote had seven. Jacob Hertz chipped in six points and Gage Dermon had five.

Matthew Arthur drained 10 3-pointers and scored 31 points to lead New Washington. Bo Giltner had 18 points and 12 rebounds for the Mustangs (8-11).

Shawe, now 1-11 on the season, travels to Switzerland County on Friday and to Trimble County on Saturday. The Hilltoppers then host Cornerstone Christian on Tuesday.

LADY RAIDERS LOSE IN OVERTIME

Shelby Wilcoxson scored 28 points to lead the Raiders while Addison Edmondson had 12 points and Emma Horn scored 10.

Trimble, now 4-7 overall and 1-3 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, hosts Carroll County tonight and heads to Lloyd Memorial on Friday. The Raiders then travel to Beechwood on Monday.

Reich adds Mawae, Milanovich to Colts' revamped coaching staff

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis Colts coach Frank Reich has revamped his staff by hiring five new assistants, including Hall of Fame center Kevin Mawae. and moving four additional assistants into new jobs.

Tuesday's announcement comes less than a month after Philadelphia hired former Colts offensive coordinator Nick Sirianni as its head coach. Sirianni took several other Colts coaches with him.

The biggest names on the list were Mawae, an eight-time Pro Bowler and former NFLPA president, and Scott Milanovich, the former Maryland quarterback and CFL head coach.

Mawae will become the new assistant offensive line coach after spending three seasons as an offensive analyst at Arizona State. Milanovich takes over as quarterbacks coach after working in the same capacity with Jacksonville from 2017-19 and spending the previous five seasons as coach of the Toronto Argonauts.

Reich also hired Joe Hastings as assistant special teams coach, former East Carolina head coach Scottie Montgomery, as running backs coach, James Rowe as cornerbacks coach, and former Eagles passing game coordinator Press Taylor as an offensive assistant.

In other moves, Klayton Adams switches from assistant offensive line coach to tight ends coach, Parks Frazier becomes assistant quarterbacks coach after spending last season as Indy's offensive quality control coach, and David Overstreet II will go from defensive quality control coach to assistant defensive backs coach.

Reich also announced Doug McKenney will now be in charge of applied sports science/conditioning after spending the past three seasons as Indy's assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Reds add Doolittle, Strange-Gordon

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Left-hander Sean Doolittle and the Cincinnati Reds finalized a $1.5 million, one-year contract on Monday, a deal that allowed him to earn an additional $2.1 million in performance bonuses.

Cincinnati also announced a minor league deal with infielder Dee Strange-Gordon, who will report to big league spring training.

Doolittle, 34, had been with Washington since July 2017 and helped the Nationals win their first World Series title in 2019.

He can earn $1.6 million in bonuses for games pitched: $100,000 each for 10 and every additional four through 34, $125,000 apiece for 38, 42, 46 and 50, and $200,000 each for 55 and 60.

He also can earn $500,000 for games finished: $100,000 each for 20 and every additional five through 40.

The two-time All-Star was 0-2 with a 5.87 ERA in 7⅔ innings over 11 relief appearances during the pandemic-shortened 2020 season. He earned $2,407,407 in prorated pay from a $6.5 million salary last year in the second option year of a contract that originally guaranteed $10.5 million from 2014-18.

Strange-Gordon, 32, spent the past three seasons with Seattle and hit .200 with three RBIs in 75 at-bats over 33 games last year. A three-time stolen base champion, he swiped just three in five tries.

Strange-Gordon became a free agent when Seattle chose to pay a $1 million buyout rather than exercise a $14 million option for 2021.

"Foster got into foul trouble in the first half but like the great player that he is, he bounced back and had a great second half," Nussbaum said.

"Austin had 21 points and nine rebounds and that is a tremendous stat for a two-guard. And Matt has been consistent every night. He's just going to get you buckets."

Dakota Capps led Clarksville with 16 points and nine rebounds while Starks had 11 points and seven rebounds. LaMar added 10 points for the Generals.

Southwestern returns to action on Friday when they travel to Rising Sun to resume Ohio River Valley Conference play. The Rebels then head to South Decatur next Tuesday.

PLAY 'EM LATER

Baylor's two postponed games were the biggest blow to the Top 25 slate this week, but several other games also have been scratched due to the pandemic. Villanova was supposed to play DePaul on Tuesday night, when No. 17 Florida State would have headed to No. 18 Virginia Tech for a showdown. On Thursday night, the Wolverines were supposed to play No. 6 Illinois in a matchup between two of the best teams in the Big Ten.

OFF THE RADAR

Loyola Chicago is back in the poll for the first time since 1985 at the expense of Missouri Valley rival Drake, which rattled off 18 straight wins to start the season before losing to Valparaiso to fall from the Top 25. Now, the two are set to square off with back-to-back games in Des Moines, Iowa, for control of the Valley this weekend.

Courierarea Sports Shorts

From staff reports

• Four local girls basketball players have been named to the All-Sectional 45 Tournament Team.

Southwestern's Ellie Foley and Trinity McLain, as well as Switzerland County's Kierstan Oeffinger and Jessie Foley, were among the 10 players selected.

Rachel Meyer and Gracie Gunter from sectional champion South Ripley were named the co-Most Valuable Players of the Tournament and were joined by teammate Janire San Miguel on the all-tournament team. North Decatur's Morgan Stanley and Haley Gorrell, as well as South Decatur's Loryn Pate, were also selected.

• Madison junior varsity boys basketball lost 54-23 at Batesville on Saturday.

• Southwestern jayvee boys basketball defeated Clarksville 60-50 at home on Tuesday.

Southwestern travels to Rising Sun on Friday and to South Decatur next Tuesday.

Hanover to allow limited fans at sporting events

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

The Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference announced on Tuesday an adjustment to its spectator policy for the remainder of indoor athletic competition season. The conference-wide policy regarding attendance of spectators is now left to the discretion of each host institution.

Starting Monday, Feb. 15, Hanover College has agreed to allow senior student-athlete parents only for all remaining indoor sport home competitions.

The conference member institutions will limit attendance to home fans only following the guidelines put in place.

Outdoor spectator policy will be released soon. Visit the school's website for further updates regarding Panther athletics and COVID-19 polices.

Arkansas ends 8-game losing streak to Kentucky

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Jalen Tate scored 15 points, including two free throws with 4.3 seconds left, and Davonte Davis made a steal on the ensuing possession as Arkansas edged Kentucky 81-80 on Tuesday night, snapping an eight-game losing streak in the series.

Kentucky guard Davion Mintz sank a 3-pointer from the right wing with 12.3 seconds remaining to give the Wildcats an 80-79 lead. Davis had a contested layup roll off the rim at the other end, but Tate grabbed the offensive rebound in traffic and was fouled. After Tate's go-ahead free throw, Kentucky got it to 7-footer Olivier Sarr at midcourt, but Davis intercepted his pass.

Moses Moody added 14 points for Arkansas (15-5, 7-4 Southeastern Conference). Connor Vanover scored 12 points and JD Notae had 11.

Brandon Boston Jr. scored 17 points to lead Kentucky (5-13, 4-7). Sarr had 13 points, 10 rebounds and four assists. Mintz and Devin Askew added 11 points apiece and Keion Brooks Jr. had 10.

Arkansas led 72-60 with 6:11 remaining before Mintz's 3-pointer gave Kentucky its first lead since 40-39 early in the second half. The Razorbacks made 15 of 17 free throws in the second half and finished 18 of 23.

Kentucky coach John Calipari announced Monday night that five-star freshman guard Terrence Clarke was out for four weeks with a right leg injury suffered in a game against North Carolina on Dec. 19. He's played in just seven games.

Arkansas, which has won five of its last six games, plays at Missouri on Saturday. Kentucky hosts Auburn on Saturday looking to end a four-game losing streak.

CORRECTION

The Shawe girls basketball player who led the Lady Hilltoppers in Friday's sectional loss to No. 1 Trinity Lutheran was actually senior Abigail Hill, who scored a career-high 19 points including three 3-pointers in her final game as a Hilltopper.

IN THE JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT
CAUSE NO. 39C01-2011-EU-00002
IN THE MATTER OF THE UNSUPERVISED ADMINISTRATION OF THE ESTATE OF KENNETH LEE, DECEASED.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that on the 12th day of January, 2021,
Robert Burnett and Merritt K. Alcorn were appointed personal representative of the estate of Kenneth Lee, deceased, who died on September 19, 2020.

All persons having claims against this estate, whether or not now due, must file the claim in the office of the Clerk of this Court within three (3) months from the date of the first publication of this notice, or within nine (9) months after the decedent's death, whichever is earlier, or the claims will be forever barred.

Dated at Madison, Indiana, this 12th day of January, 2021.

Tabatha Eblen
Clerk, Jefferson Circuit Court

Employer doesn't care

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I've been at my current job for nearly 10 years. But over the last year, I've become very discouraged, as the pandemic has helped to shine a bright light on my employer's true character. He has asked us to work in unsafe conditions this entire pandemic, exposing us to risk every day so that he can continue to rake in money through his business. The greed and lack of regard for his employees has been truly eye-opening. Even now that we're seemingly pretty close to a return to "normalcy," and I won't have to worry about health on the job, I can't forgive him for how he acted throughout this whole thing.

Before this past year, I had a great deal of respect for this person and enjoyed my job. I had a lot of pride in working for the person I thought he was. This realization of his true character has very much soured my perspective and motivation going forward. Do I quit, or do I honestly tell my boss how disappointed I am? At the end of the day, he is only about the dollar, and the show he puts on pretending to care is all lies. He has gone to extreme measures to protect only himself and could care less about us. How can I continue to work for someone who is only in it for himself? — Employee for the Moment

Dear Employee: This may be a silly question, but I have to ask: Did you let your boss know (in writing) that you feel unsafe in the current conditions? If not, that should be your first order of business. If he continues to disregard your safety even after you've expressed your concern, then document his negligence as thoroughly as possible. On Jan. 21, 2021, the White House issued an executive order on Protecting Worker Health and Safety, which may entitle you to further protections and recourse. It's worth talking to an employment lawyer for guidance on next steps.

Legal facets aside, to your ultimate question of how you continue working for a person who has made it clear he cares more about his wealth than his employees' health: Crisis reveals character, and now that your boss showed his true colors, it will be hard to unsee them. Looking for a new job is a wise idea. It's prudent to secure another position before leaving your current one.

Dear Annie: I got hung up on your response to "Unheard Girlfriend," who wrote to you about her boyfriend. She said they "have one child together and one on the way" and that she was frustrated because she does all of the housework even though they're both employed. She mentioned that they divide up expenses, with the boyfriend paying the house payment and her paying for the utilities and all the groceries. I wonder if she is on the title of their home. If not, she should have that taken care of at once. If this man decides he is unhappy sometime down the line, then she needs to protect herself and those children.

Forgive my intrusion; I just felt she needed to cover herself and those children. And now I can rest easier. — From Florida

Dear From Florida: No need to apologize for raising astute observations. Your point about the house title is important. I'm printing your letter for the benefit of "Unheard Girlfriend" and anyone else in a similarly precarious situation. Thanks for writing.

Man sleeps with wife's nieces

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I live in a small town with my wife of 33 years. My wife has a large family, most of whom live in the same state as us. Two of her siblings had daughters the same age who grew up like sisters. Last summer her two nieces came to stay with us for a week while on a break from college. It turned out her nieces were hard-partying, dope-smoking, heavy-drinking types.

One day, while my wife was at work and I was working from home, they got me to party with them. We got pretty wasted and ended up all hooking up. The same thing happened the very next day. I know they liked seducing their aunt's husband, and I had a mind-blowing experience.

I assumed they were old enough to be discreet, but they weren't. A few weeks later one of them told another family member, and the news made it back to my wife. My wife was beyond upset. She told me to move out, but I refused. Since then, she has made my life a living hell.

I never wanted to destroy our marriage, but the allure of two young women is a fantasy most men cannot refuse. I never believed two sexual exploits could destroy my marriage of 33 years. I am not seeing a way to fix this. Any suggestions? — Regretful

Dear Regretful: There are so many layers of wrongness here that I don't even know where to begin. You cheated on your wife. You cheated on her again. And the cherry on this creeptastic cake: You cheated on her with your nieces. (Yes, they are your nieces, too, even if not by blood.) What you did was profoundly hurtful, no matter which way you slice it.

I usually tell partners working past infidelity to try couples counseling. But for that to work, the cheater actually has to feel remorse — and despite your letter's signature, it seems like the only thing you regret is getting caught. If you can't appreciate how deeply you've hurt your wife, my only advice is to honor her wishes and pack your bags.

Dear Annie: My sister is relatively young (early 60s) but lives in a nursing home. For months now, she has not been allowed to leave her room except to shower. She was put in a room that has no phone. After she'd been there for a month, I called and the front desk told me that she'd be allowed visitors in a week or two. I waited two weeks, and called again, and they said she still wasn't allowed visits. I am allowed to drop things off, and last week I noticed that one of the residents was in the lobby. I asked an employee what was up with that, and the employee said that residents are allowed to go outside for cigarette breaks, supervised.

At this point I feel that the nursing home administrators are not telling the truth. If they can leave their rooms to go outside, then certainly they can have a visitor, even if just through a glass window, right? — Miss My Sis

Dear Miss My Sis: Trust your gut. While the coronavirus pandemic has necessitated restrictions, you should still be allowed phone calls with your sister at the very least. It sounds like her facility might not be on the up and up. Reach out to them in writing to log your complaints, so that you have a paper trail. Then see if a long-term care ombudsman can intervene. You can locate ombudsmen at https://theconsumervoice.org/get_help.
